

December 7 - December 13, 2001

The Terra mission successfully completed its first inclination maneuver on December 13, 2001. All instruments are back in full operation. The spacecraft vendor provided critique and contingency support. The EOS Core System flight team did an excellent job executing the maneuver.